It was decided to proceed with the building of a new, clean, airy clubhouse and removing the greens by way of enlarging, adding more sand and oil and altering fencing, as soon as weather conditions would permit.

Interest in the 1921 golf season seems to be keen, and there is no doubt but Blairmore will have this year the best golf course in Southern Alberta, a reputation attributed to the course in 1920 by all and any who played over the course.

BLAIRMORE TO HAVE $20,000 CLOSED IN RINK

A mass meeting of those interested in skating and curling rinks was held at the office of The Enterprise on Monday night. The meeting was attended by about forty and was brimful of enthusiasm. The object of the meeting was to consider the advisability of erecting a substantial closed in rink, where hockey, skating and curling could be maintained under the same roof.

The meeting was called to order by Dr. Olivier, who had been elected president of the recently organized association known as the Blairmore Curling, Skating and Hockey Association.

Dr. Olivier read the minutes of the previous association meeting.

The chairman briefly explained the objects of this meeting, and called for the order of business.

On resolution by Mr. Gillis, the minutes of previous meeting were not adopted and practically all the business transacted at said meeting was undone.

It was unanimously decided to organize an incorporated company to be known as "The Blairmore Arena, Limited," with a capitalization of $20,000 divided into shares of $25 each.

The election of Officers resulted in the following:

Hon. President—J. Charbonnier.

Hon. Vice-President—The Mayor of Blairmore.

President—Dr. J. Olivier.

Vice-President—J. E. Gillis.

Secretary-Treasurer—A. J. Kelly.

Provisional Directors: Harry Burns, J. P. O'Neill, W. H. Chappell, F. M. Pinkney and W. J. Bartlett.

Full board of provisional directors to be the president, vice-president, secretary-treasurer and the five gentlemen above mentioned.

Several proposals were advanced to the meeting as to sites and the matter of choice was left with the committee to consider and report back. At any event it was decided that a good location would be available at very reasonable terms and that with an offer of purchase of about one-third

THE PASS FIFTEEN YEARS AGO (From The Blairmore Times, April, 1906.)

Mrs. Frank Graham and Mrs. H. N. Galt, of Coleman, visited here on Monday.

Blairmore is to have a brass band and a full set of instruments have been ordered.

Hard, snow, rain and mud was the mixture handed out by the weather since this week.

The Blairmore Hotel, under the management of D. C. Dran, has again opened up for business.

A census of Frank lately taken shows that town to have a population of slightly under seven hundred people.

On Monday, the ratepayers of Frank will hold a meeting to take final steps towards incorporating the place.

Harry Howard left on Wednesday for Lethbridge to attend the sick bed of his brother Jack, who is quite seriously ill.

Gus Becken, of Coleman, is in receipt of some fine specimens of gold and silver quartz from a prospect in which he is half owner, situated near Creston, B. C.

These be the days in which a man hoos his little garden patch, harrows his soul, cultivates curvatures of the spine, goes radish seed and renoma and rakes blisters.

Application has been made by Mike Rossi for a renewal of his wholesale license for 1906-07 in respect to the premises situated on lot 9, in block 4, Blairmore.

The business men of some of our towns are beginning to realize that a newspaper, like a loaded gun, while handy, it becomes a dangerous thing in the hands of some people.

So Jim Hill has decided to build a railway from Winnipeg to Vancouver. Well, Jim, go ahead, but remember we expect a better service than you are giving on most of your lines.

Thanks to our present government, Alberta has a "Mechanics' Lien Act" that fully protects laborers and also the owners and mortgagees of property in this province. This is something that has been badly needed, as under the Master and Servant Act the law was framed so that it was almost impossible for a laborer by law to collect his wages. This Act is but one of many that are being enacted at Edmonton in the interest of the people.

Who Are You?

A Passenger?—Is the man who goes around with one eye closed and carries a perpetual grudge. He wrinkles up his face, strikes himself generally, is a great deal to worry every day. He is content to ride every day and is a great deal of work and says, "It can't be done."

An Operator?—Is the fellow with a face full of mud and mud and mud and mud that after all the world is not such a bad place to live in and believe conditions are growing better. He tries to inspire confidence in every undertaking and he says, "It can be done."

A Passenger?—Is the bird who looks everything square in the eye. He sees the opportunity, presenting itself, takes off his coat, rolls up his sleeves, pulls down his vest and goes right after it and sees that the work is done.

The site propositions so far most favorably considered are those at the rear of the telephone office and the old football ground. The rink building will be about 250 by 160 feet and will be modernly equipped. Besides the full standard size skating sheet and grand stands, four full curling sheets will be provided.

Finding the Equilibrium

The slow and difficult process of getting the business and productive activities of the country back to a normal level, to which reference was made in this column last week, can, let it be repeated with emphasis, be only successfully accomplished through co-operation on the part of all concerned, and that means everybody. It cannot be accomplished by any one group in the State standing out and insisting on the acceptance of their own demands irrespective of the effect on others. There must be compromises, resulting in readjustments.

For one thing, it becomes increasingly evident that the Federal Government must revise their present systems and methods of levying taxation on business and productive enterprise, whether such business be agricultural production, industrial manufacturing, or commerce in its wholesale and retail departments. Present systems and methods are confusing, complicated and generally unsettling, and constitute a discouragement to enterprise, initiative and increased production. What is now required is something simple, inexpensive in operation, yet withal capable of producing a large revenue to meet the pressing needs of the nation. Such a system is to be found, we believe, in the removal of the present taxation levies on business profits, and the introduction of a general and uniform tax on all business turnovers—that is, a small tax on gross sales in all lines of business activity.

If the Federal Government will take this step, then all business will know exactly where it stands and can proceed to work out permanent policies with a view to expansion and increased production, thus reducing and gradually eliminating unemployment, increasing the purchasing power of the country to absorb the larger volume of commodities produced, and at the same time bringing about a reduction in prices which will place such commodities within reach of a much larger number of people.

It should be clear to all people, and especially to Governments, that the secret of national prosperity is to be found in well balanced industry. That is, that the production of every branch of industry in which people are engaged shall be in proportion to the wants and buying power of the people in all their other occupations. In other words, a national balance between occupations in which people are engaged must be found and maintained.

An expert on economics in the United States sets forth the situation quite clearly when he says that the number of people that can be employed in any industry depends upon the amount of the products that can be sold, and that depends upon the price which the consumers have to pay for them. For any commodity there is at any given time a certain price which will secure a larger net result to the producers than any other price. That is to say, if the price be lowered the additional distribution will not compensate for the sacrifice, and on the other hand, if the price be raised the loss of distribution will exceed the gain in price. For example, there is a point where railway freight rates will produce a maximum of revenue, but, increased beyond that figure the rates charged operate to decrease the volume of freight carried so that the higher charges actually mean less revenue.

It must be borne in mind that everything that is offered for sale, whether it be an article of goods or the services of an individual or corporation is in competition, not only with like goods or service, but with all the multitude of attractions that are appealing to every consumer. Under these conditions it is folly on the part of an individual or group of individuals to think that he or they have it in their power to arbitrarily fix wages and prices for themselves. They may have the power to fix, and even maintain, wages, rates and prices, but they cannot escape the effect it will have upon employment or upon sales.

A striking example of the truth of this statement was shown in New York City last fall. The printers there wanted more wages and a board of arbitration awarded it to them, without, apparently, taking into consideration the state of the printing business and its relation to the general business situation. The result was that the wage increase, by increasing the cost of printing at a time when the public had less money to spend for printing, aggravated the situation, resulted in such a substantial decrease in work that hundreds of men were laid off, and the actual amount paid in wages was smaller and not larger than before the increase was made.

That illustrates the whole situation. It is shortsighted to be always thinking that wages are fixed by simply an agreement between employer and employee, and that the employer can either pay it out of his own pocket or pass it on to the consumer. If the consumer cannot pay, the employer will not long be able to do so, and unemployment is the inevitable result. There is a relationship between industry and all the other industries which must be taken into account and maintained.

There is also an equilibrium, a natural balance, which must be maintained between the occupations in which people are engaged. That balance must be sustained in order that the products or services of each group may be absorbed by all the other groups. When the balance is lost, unemployment results and continues until a redistribution is worked out, so that again everybody is at work and all the products are absorbed, either at home or abroad, a state which we call prosperity.

The co-operative efforts of all organizations and individuals must be directed towards finding that equilibrium in occupations, in wages, in production, in order that prosperity may be established. It can only be accomplished by concession and compromise on the part of both Capital and Labor, employer and employee.

"Good!" cried the sensitive victim.

"I knew it was in me. Now, for goodness sake don't talk to it or it'll crawl back again."

INLAYS IN TEETH.

An inlay is a filling that is made outside of the mouth and when finished is fastened in the tooth cavity with a dental cement. The making of inlays is a very ancient process that was a lost art for many centuries. The Artexes of old Mexico used a green stone in their teeth. The green stone was not used to stop cavities as we use inlays, but was purely decorative. The Aztec nobility had fanciful designs cut in their front teeth probably tribal marks on the order of our coat-of-arms, then the green stone was cleverly cut to fit the cavity and cemented with a very durable transparent cement. The durability of these prehistoric inlays is proved by the fact that there are in existence a number of Aztec skulls with green stones still firmly in place.

Inlays of porcelain were the first to be made in modern times. Porcelain was used because it can be made to closely approximate the color and characteristics of the natural teeth.

The process of making a porcelain inlay is very difficult, but the result is so satisfactory that many are made for fillings where gold would be objectionable.

The gold inlay is now very widely used. There are many ways to make them but the object is the same, to to perfectly fill the cavity, to restore the original contour, and to be to durable. All of these things a gold inlay does. The miniature casting that is required to make a gold inlay is an art of modern times. Gold inlays are made with remarkable accu-acy, and as they are made outside of the mouth, they are much less painful than gold fillings that must be malleted into the tooth. Whether a good gold inlay is better for the tooth than a gold filling that is also good is not yet decided. I would say that either one is all right.

Stop the Cough.—Coughing is caused by irritation in the respiratory passages and is the effort to dislodge obstructions that come from inflammation of the mucous membrane.

Treatment with Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil will allay the inflammation and in consequence the cough will cease. Try it and you will be satisfied.

A Product Small, But Costly

Manufacturing Plant Works Whole

Year to Produce Small Amount of Radium.

When the total product of a manufacturing plant for a whole year weighs only eighteen grams, its output cannot be described as large, but neither, when the eighteen grams sell for $2,160,000, can it be called exactly small. This is the record for 1920 of the Standard Chemical Company of Pittsburgh, all the energies of which are devoted to the extracting of radium from the carnotite ore of Colorado.

The demand for radium it seems, is what the market reporters call "steady." Most of the precious stuff is used in medicine, but a little goes to the giving of luminosity to the hands of watches and clocks. For the latter purpose the process of concentration is not carried anything like as far as it is much for the doctors, and the cost is therefore less.

As a curative agent, especially in cancerous conditions, radium has not yet justified all of the hopes it at first excited, but its efficacy is slowly increasing with added knowledge and experience. It is by far the most expensive of all the known elements to employ a word now viewed as a bit advance in scientific circles—and none other is anything like as interesting.—The New York Times.

Fear Grasshopper Plague

Saskatchewan is Ready to Cope With Trouble When It Comes.

An extensive outbreak of the grasshopper plague is feared by Saskatchewan agriculturists and authorities, this spring. But the province will not be caught napping. Already 70 tons of arsenic is now on the way from the east for the provincial department of agriculture, which is making preparations for the anti-grasshopper campaign.

The department plans to concentrate, in Regina, sufficient material to supply the whole province with poisoned bait. Practically the same form of organization for combating the insects as used last year will again be in vogue.

Zam-Buk is a combination of powerful,

EXTREME MISERY

DAY AND NIGHT

Follows a Breakdown of the Nervous System.

Misery day and night is the lot of many of men and women who are today the victims of "Nervous Prostration," drawn faces and dejected attitude tell a sad tale, for nervous weakness means being tortured by morbid thoughts and unaccountable fits of depression. These sufferers are painfully sensitive and easily agitated by some chance remark.

Sleeplessness robs them of energy and strength; their eyes are sunken under their heavy lids; the appetite is poor and memory often fails. This nervous exhaustion is one of the most serious afflictions men and women of to-day. The only way to bring back sound, vigorous health is to take the starved nerves, which are clamoring for better food. This new blood can be had through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which have a direct action on the blood and through the blood on the nervous system. That a fair use of this medicine will bring satisfactory results is shown by the experience of Mrs.

Martha, Bass River, N.S., who says:

"I was in a low-down condition. I became practically a nervous wreck.

The doctor who was called in said the trouble was inflammation of the nerves. It grew so bad that practically I had no control of my lower limbs, and had to go about with crutches. Quite aside from my suffering I had a small family and a baby in arms to care for and I became discouraged, as I did not appear to be getting better. One evening my husband met an old doctor on the street and told him of my condition. He asked my husband what my husband had been told and he said: "I don't want to interfere, but why not try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills?

My husband got me a supply of these pills and after taking a few boxes I was able to go about with the use of one crutch. Continuing the use of the pills I was able to discard the other crutch as well, and was as active as ever. I had been told there are many in this neighborhood who know what my condition was when I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and who know what my medicine did for me, and I hope my experience will help other sufferers.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all dealers in medicine, or may be had by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Old Fort Ellis and Sioux Indians

Crossing the Plains to Fort Carlton Summer 1875.

By G. O. MASER (Little Clerk).

(Copyrighted)

I had wintered at Fairport on the north end of Lake Manitoba and had just closed up the business in the spring, when I received orders to report at Manitoba House and superintend a small sugar making plant which the Hudson's Bay Company had undertaken on an island in the lake just out from the post where there were several thousand aspen trees. Our methods were very primitive. An old pony and stone-bark with a barrel to gather the sap, birch bark rogans and wood troughs for containers, and a string of large-sized open copper kettles for boiling the sap. An old and wrinkled Indian woman attended to the boiling and sugar making, and when the season ended we had several thousand pounds of sugar, sugar-pitch and syrup. After keeping enough of this for home use, the orders were to send the balance up to Fort Qu'Appelle, and there it would be traded to the Plain Indians who were exceedingly fond of it, and the price to them was, I think, a skin a pound.

The officer-in-charge of Manitoba House at that time was the late Isaac Cowie, and he fitted out five Red River carts with ponies, detailed a half-breed named Charlie-Man to accompany me, and I started on my journey. I was generally known as Charlie-Man for guide, had the carts loaded up with sugar and syrup, and issued our ration for the trip. Unfortunately a gun was not included in the equipment and at that time I did not own one. He then gave orders to proceed direct to Fort Ellis. It was wilderness we had to traverse, and in fact on the whole trip we never saw or tracked a human being. The ponies we were using had wintered out and as the green grass was only just coming in they were in poor shape for a long trip. Our progress was very slow, not more than eighteen to twenty miles a day, and at first we had to make a number of detours to avoid brush and briars, but gradually as we got further away from the lake, the country became more open. We had no tent, but just a covering to sleep under. One night we had camped rather late on a dry looking knoll, and after supper some went to bed, as we made a point of starting early, spelling our poor ponies twice in the day to give them the best show possible.

Charlie-Man will now tell the story: "We had put up the usual wolf frame and over this drew our covering and went to sleep, when, all of a sudden I was awakened by Ogunagess grabbing me fiercely, moaning and shaking his head from side to side. Though I was considered a strong man it took me all my time to hold my own with the little clerk, and I thought he must have gone suddenly mad. In our struggles we smashed our rude camp to pieces, rolled some distance down the knoll, and at last I managed to hold him down firmly with my knee on his chest and asked what was the matter. He was not conscious of my, but still kept throwing his head from side to side and moaning. It struck me at last there was something in his ear, and dragging him slowly back to the camp, I found our duologue sack, took out a bottle of Pinkett, pulled the cork with my teeth, turned him on his side, and poured the pure stuff into his ear. He collapsed as if you had hit him with a club, and finally I noticed a small red ant float out with the Pinkett. He remained unconscious until morning when he woke up all right, though for several days he was quite deaf on that side.

So much for Charlie-Man's yarn. And now I take up my narrative again. I was suddenly awakened that night by what I thought was a tremendous blow inside my head, followed by another, and another until I lost consciousness, and then you have heard Charlie-Man's story as to what happened. Talk about grizzly bears or timber wolves, a little tiny red ant is much more to be dreaded when in your ear, and for years afterwards when sleeping out on the prairie I stopped my ears with cotton wool.

Our rations consisted of Pilot bread biscuits, large and very hard, with a small amount of buffalo pemican. Unfortunately, owing to the weakness of our ponies, the trip was a long one, much longer than Mr. Cowie allowed for, so we had to limit our fare. Of course, there was plenty of maple sugar and syrup and we rather wisely ate too much of this which caused dysentery. Finally, by Charlie-Man's rough count, we should be within some thirty miles of Fort Ellis. But, alas, our ponies had played out entirely. Charlie was very much weaker than myself owing to the effects of too much sugar, and we held a council over night as to the best procedure. The question arose, should we kill one of the ponies, and after some discussion we decided against this, they of course being company's property. There were only two large biscuits left, no pemican, and then the sugar, which by this time we were afraid to touch. It was finally decided that I was to start out early next morning taking an easterly course, making my trail constantly (so that Charlie could be easily found), and after four hours should bring me to the main cart trail from Ft. Garry to Ft. Ellis.

I was pleased with the prospect and taking half a biscuit for my breakfast away I went, warning Charlie to eat no more sugar, and assuring him I would have assistance as early as possible. After some three hours steady walking I struck the main trail close to Birch Lake Creek. I was by this time hungry as a bear, and here on the light soil banks of the creek were hundreds of prairie poppers, fat and juicy, the first we had seen. They looked good to eat and after vainly pelting them with stones an idea struck me. Sitting down I took off my pemican, pulled out the long deer skin thongs and made a snare, and in a few minutes I had a couple of fine big poppers. Making a fire I skinned and cleaned my game, fixed up what Indians call a Ponsak viz: The game is stretched on a stick with skewers across and roasted before an open fire. I quickly polished one off. Very good and sweet it was, and was just started on the other one when I heard a cry coming from the east, and who should it be but Molyneux St. John and his wife en route to Ft. Ellis on Indian Department business. Nothing would do but stay having a good dinner on the spot and then a comfortable drive to The Fort, where I at once reported conditions and saw a relief party sent provisions sent back to poor Charlie-Man, who arrived that night, and after a day or two's rest was all right again. The ponies were left to do their own recuperating and would be brought into the horse guard later.

Senator David on Imperialism

He Believes That Unity of Empire Must Be Founded on Local Autonomy.

Ottawa.—Moving in the Senate for copies of all correspondence exchanged between the Imperial Government and the Government of Canada in connection with the representation of Canada, either in the British Parliament or in any council; its participation in the administration of the British Empire; its contribution to wars of the British Empire; and to the establishment of a British or Canadian navy, Senator L. O. David said that, in his opinion, any scheme that would have the effect of diminishing the autonomy enjoyed by the various Dominions and colonies within the Empire would be productive of disastrous results.

It could not be supposed, Senator David said, that Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa would think alike on all world problems; when sleeping out on the prairie I stopped my ears with cotton wool. The other and any scheme designed to mould them into a single attitude could bring nothing but harm. What was wanted was the unity of diversity; a unity based on local autonomy. After all Britain had no reason to complain of her Dominions. They had in recent years shown a high measure of devotion, and no one supposed that they would have done more had relations been more close. "Why, then," said he, "is it deemed necessary to depart from the present position?" He warned the Senate and the country to be on guard as to what might be done at the coming conference of premiers.

Rumour of Return Of Hapsburgs

Monarchists Are Not Taken Seriously By British Authorities.

London.—British official circles expressed the opinion that former-Emperor Charles in his attempt to regain the throne of Hungary, was misled by Monarchists who advised him that the time was ripe for his return to Hungary. The advice of Regent Horthy to Charles to leave the country immediately, is regarded here as substantiating the view that there is no support for a Monarchist coup in Hungary at present.

It is believed here that Charles will enter Switzerland or some other neutral country, and not make a further attempt to return to Hungary. If he should try this course, the Allies could do nothing aside from applying moral persuasion against his return to Hungary.

Permit Esmonde to Land

Will Be Allowed to Remain in Canada Long Enough to Take Boat to England.

Vancouver.—On condition that he will proceed Englandward, Osmond Thomas Gratton Esmonde was permitted to land from an Australian liner here. After four months' confinement to ship board, he is allowed to land in a British country.

It is understood that immigration authorities questioned his right to land here only because he had been refused admittance to Australia. The question to be settled so far as Canada is concerned was whether or not he was a person aiming at the overthrow of constitutional authority. Apparently the authorities have found him innocent of any such extreme views, but he will be allowed to remain in Canada only long enough to permit of his reaching a British-bound boat in Montreal or Halifax.

Washington.—General conclusions of the official commission of the Committee of One Hundred, investigating conditions in Ireland, placing moral responsibility for disorders there on the British Government, are characterized as "biased and wholly misleading," in a statement issued by the British embassy in answer to the report.

The report, the embassy said, was entitled to exactly the amount of weight which should be given to any judgment based entirely upon the evidence of expert statements, and put forward for the most part by persons admittedly holding extreme views.

The statement issued by the embassy adds: "The facts speak for themselves. Ireland, far from being a devastated country, is the most prosperous part of the United Kingdom and probably of the whole of Western Europe. Separate trade statistics from various parts of the United Kingdom, forming as they do one fiscal unit, are not readily available, but a reliable index to the general prosperity of the country can be found in the returns of deposits in joint stock banks which have increased as follows:

1914, 147,000,000 pounds sterling; 1919, 166,000,000 pounds sterling; 1920, 200,000,000 pounds sterling.

"This prosperity continues, and is only affected in a very minor degree—and mainly in the north—by the general industrial depression."

"The report of the committee, lays stress on so-called reprisals, and ignores the fact that before the Irish propagandists suggested in September, 1920, that reprisals were taking place, 12 policemen, 12 soldiers and 23 civilians had been murdered in cold blood, and 159 policemen, 56 soldiers and 74 civilians wounded, in most cases without a chance of defending themselves. By the same date 1,300 Irishmen had been killed and wholly or partially destroyed."

"Sinn Fein has established its policy by the terror of the revolver, which has silenced the moderate opinion of the vast majority of Irishmen. It is desired to claim for the Irish Republican Army the status of belligerents, ignoring the fact that the members of that force constantly indeed, invariably, violate the laws of war as recognized by every civilized community in a manner, which, according to the same laws, justifies the penalty of death for all offenders. Their methods are those of the assassin, their deadly work is done by stealth, by personal in the garb of civilians who move about under the protection of the law until the moment comes for the attack, and who, immediately after killing their victim, revert to the aspect and demeanor of professional criminals.
